

PRIVACY STATEMENT

We use the information provided during registration to customize the content of our site to meet your specific needs, to authenticate purchasers and to make product improvements to the American Prosthetic Components web site.

We respect and will continue to respect the privacy of our customers who use the American Prosthetic Components web site.

We do not sell individual customer names or other private profile information to third parties and do not intend to do so in the future. We do share user information with our partners/vendors only for specific and pertinent promotional use but only if our customers have opted to receive such information or promotions. As a user of APCcomponents.com, you have the option to receive updates about special offers, new American Prosthetic Components services and noteworthy news. To receive our newsletter visit <http://americanprostheticcomponents.com> and click Subscribe at the bottom.